On July 17 the Board of Directors met in Pinetop Arizona for their semi-annual Board of Directors' meeting. Besides the AYM business meeting, the Board approved a Rise 4 Christ event in the Fall in the Pinetop, Arizona area.

The Board also discussed holding events in the Phoenix metro area under the Valley of the Sun Community Young Group now that many of the Covid-19 restrictions have been lifted. We will be looking for individuals and churches that will help with the events. The Board also heard from Leah Fahrlender, AYM's website administrator, about changes to the website.

The students from White Mountain Youth's Dig Deeper Bible School and AYM's Student Leadership program gave a presentation to the Board on their Worldview Academy Summer Camp in Glendale Arizona

WORLDVIEW ACADEMY CAMP NOTES!!!

Four students and one adult recently attended the Worldview Academy in Glendale Arizona. Three of the students spoke to the Agape Youth BOD about their experience.

The students informed the board that they attended approximately 5 lectures per day on multiple subjects. All the lectures reinforced a Biblical worldview. Activities and team sporting games were also on the agenda.

All the students agreed that their favorite part of the academy was a field trip to the ASU campus where they tried their skills as street evangelists, talking with ASU students.

All four students said that their prayer time and bible study time has increased since the academy and as a direct result of their experience at the academy. Relationships were made that have been continued with other Christian student from other areas of Arizona.

Paula Krull Letter on World View Academy Camp Week

Well not sure where to start, so I first just wanted to say thank you for the opportunity to learn alongside these 4 other young ladies that were able to attend Worldview Academy. I have attended a "youth conference/camp" in my younger years and very grateful for it because that's where I gave my life to the Lord! This was on a whole other level of young leaders! First of all, the staff was comprised mostly of young men and women who were from the ages of 18-20's. From beginning to end they were courteous, helpful and went above what I have witnessed from our young people today. It was well organized and the staff expected these youth to follow rules that way everyone was able to enjoy themselves. And I am telling you when you expect great things from these kids, they actually jumped at the change to be challenged in an awesome way!

There were about 100 kids that I got to witness lifting their hands and standing worshipping Jesus every night.

They were given some tools to evangelize at one of the toughest campuses in Arizona, ASU and some were pretty nervous, but once they got out there and started talking to people, I know for all the young ladies that went with me, THAT WAS THIER FAVORITE DAY! They enjoyed talking to people and getting to know what others thought about the world and trying to establish a dialogue, and trust me they encountered some not so nice people. They were paired in groups and there was no staff or adult that helped them speak to these people. As a mom and adult to witness these young kids engaging in great conversations with other adults, it was an awesome thing!

I also was able to witness all the behind the scenes that go on into Worldview Academy and they truly want to see great leaders rise up for Christ and that is exactly what they are encouraged to do and they do it very well. I never wanted to miss a lecture; they were all so great! From how up holding the law and becoming great leaders in our legal systems to How do we know the truth, to the “Problem with Pain”, and many more that really dig deep to some difficult questions that most adult Christians have difficulty answering and they were so engaged! Every lecture ended on a note of leaving them with something really profound to think about and to think about it WELL. It was a great opportunity for me and the young girls that went with me. I would highly recommend Worldview Academy!! Thanks again for the opportunity!
